

Gradient Options

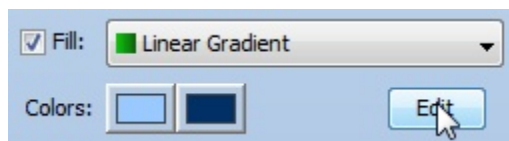

You can add more colors to a gradient. You can also adjust the way a gradient is displayed.

Click a shape or frame background with a gradient.

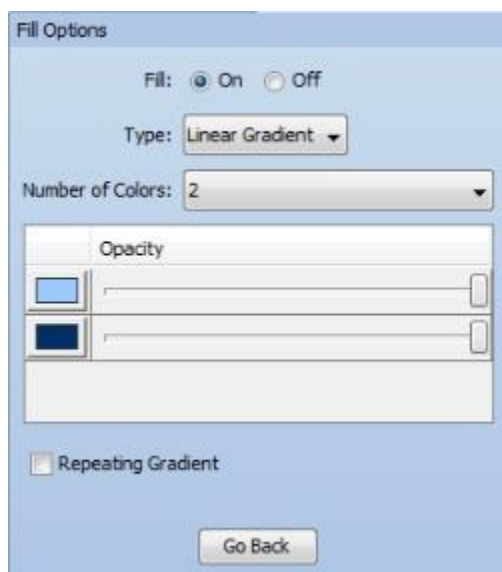

You will see the Options panel.

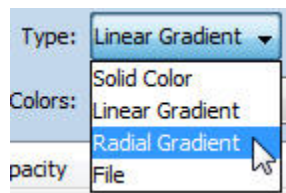

Click the Edit button next to the gradient colors.

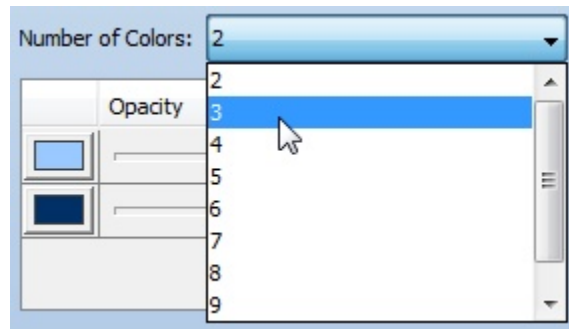

You will see the Fill Options panel.

To choose a different type of gradient, click the Type menu and choose the style you want to use.

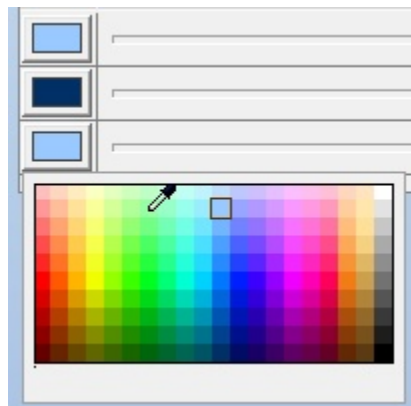

Click the Number of Colors pull-down menu and choose the number of colors you want in your gradient.

Colors will be added to the gradient.

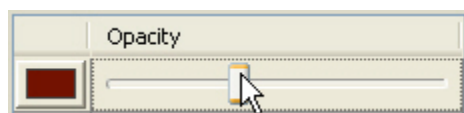

Click the color box for each color you want to edit and select a new color from the palette.

The shape will change colors to match your selections.

You can adjust the opacity of each color in a gradient.

Click and drag the opacity slider for a color to adjust the transparency for that color.

You will see triangular gradient handles within the shape. Click and drag the handles to change the direction and compression for the gradient.
